LAW SOCIETY SADDENED AT TRAGIC DEATH OF EDWARD MVUSENI NGUBANE

The Law Society of South Africa (LSSA) is saddened and shocked at the tragic and untimely death of its former Co-Chairperson, Durban attorney Edward Mvuseni Ngubane.

'Mr Ngubane was an active and dynamic member of the attorneys' profession. He served the LSSA and led the attorneys' profession with distinction as Co-Chairperson in 2003 and was nominated by the LSSA as one of the attorney representatives on the Judicial Service Commission. He continued to make valuable and measured input in the affairs of the profession through his role as a council member of the KwaZulu-Natal Law Society, his membership of the Black Lawyers Association and his participation in several specialist committees of the LSSA,' say LSSA Co-Chairpersons Krish Govender and Jan Stemmett.

They add: 'Mvuseni was a friend and colleague, and was also a mentor for many younger practitioners We lower our flag in his honour and extend the profession's heartfelt condolences to his family, as well as to the partners and staff at his firm, Ngubane & Partners.'

Hamba Kahle, Mbomvu!
